FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

EVERYTHING BUT THE HOUSE (EBTH) NAMED BY VENTUREOHIO AS A 2018 TOP 50 STARTUP

CINCINNATI, OH (Sept. 13, 2018) – EVERYTHING BUT THE HOUSE \(EBTH\), the trusted online marketplace for authenticated pre-owned goods and estate sales, was named one of Ohio’s Top 50 Growth Stage Startups to Watch by VentureOhio in its 2018 Watchlist.

VentureOhio facilitates the growth and vibrancy of the Ohio entrepreneurial ecosystem and its annual list highlights Ohio’s most promising startups.

EBTH is at the crossroads of several trends, including the massive Baby Boomer generation downsizing; a millennial generation which doesn’t shop in stores but rather leverages technology and mobile apps to fill its apartments and closets; and multiple generations of smart and savvy customers seeking not only uniqueness but also value.

“We’re very honored to be listed on the Watchlist as it reflects the hard work and dedication of our staff, as well as the promise of our customer experience,” said Scott Griffith, CEO and Chairman of EBTH. “At the same time, all of us on the list are part of something bigger than ourselves, which is to make Cincinnati an epicenter of innovation and economic growth while fueling continued cultural, academic and civic excellence.”

EBTH consumers can bid on everything from antique decor and vintage furniture to rare artwork and signed memorabilia – with all bids starting at $1. The site, on average, has over one million bids per month with bidders in over 150 countries. EBTH has partnered with some of the biggest names in Ohio, including the Cincinnati Reds and Dr. Henry Heimlich and has conducted sales for a variety of well-known celebrities, including Emmy Award-winner Susan Lucci, Jason Biggs and Jenny Mollen, David Arquette, and Mark and Skye Hoppus.
